MTU Kerry Campus Hosts International Partners for Final EuLabRPG Erasmus+ Project Meeting

Munster Technological University (MTU) Kerry recently welcomed international partners from across Europe for the fourth and final meeting of the EuLabRPG Erasmus+ Project, an initiative designed to improve creativity and innovation in classrooms through interactive learning tools.

The visiting partners, who represented Cyprus, Italy, Greece, and Poland, were hosted by Dr Kristin Brogan, Lecturer, Department of Social Science, MTU Kerry, Dr Gerardina Harnett, Head of Department, Nursing and Healthcare Sciences, MTU Kerry, and Emer Thompson, Lecturer, Department of Nursing, MTU Kerry, in October 2025. MTU serves as the project's coordinator, reflecting the university's growing role in encouraging international collaboration in education.

Terry O'Sullivan, Director of the Tralee Education Support Centre (TraleeESC) and a supportive partner in the project, welcomed delegates and discussed feedback from the piloting phase of the EuLabRPG platform in participating secondary schools and explored ways to expand its impact and reach.

The meeting showcased the project's progress and achievements, emphasising how gamified and role-playing methodologies can foster student engagement, critical thinking, and cross-cultural understanding in European classrooms.

Dr. Kristin Brogan, Lecturer, Department of Social Science, MTU Kerry Campus said: "Hosting our partners here at MTU Kerry was a privilege and a perfect conclusion to what has been a rewarding collaboration. The EuLabRPG project demonstrates the power of international teamwork in developing tools that make learning more dynamic and inclusive. We were excited to showcase both our university and the warm hospitality of Kerry to our international colleagues."

Throughout their stay, the partners visited Dingle and Inch Beach, where they experienced the beauty of Kerry and the friendliness of the Irish people, an experience that left a lasting impression on all visitors.
